One death from yellow fever has occurred at Sanford, Florida, but no fears are entertained that the disease will spread.

The Centennial of the Inauguration of George Washington was observed with great splendor in New York City, yesterday. President Harrison and cabinet were present.

The mayor of New York has issued a proclamation ordering the vast network of telegraph, telephone and electric light wires in the city of New York, to be put under ground, greatly adding to the beauty of the city and to the facilities of the fire department.

Dr. M. E. Foynter, a prominent citizen and physician of Midway, founder and for some time editor of the Bluegrass Clipper, died on Thursday, aged about 50 years. He was a native of Clark county, and a regimental surgeon in the Federal army, during the late war.

MUST HANG.

Pat Hunt, who killed James Albee at Paris, two months ago, was found guilty in the Bourbon Circuit Court, last Thursday, and his punishment fixed at death. Albee had testified against Hunt's wife, who was sent to the penitentiary for killing a man. This is swift justice, but nevertheless needful.

QUIT IT.

Minnesota now has a law making it unlawful for a newspaper to publish anything more about a hanging than a bare announcement. Good law. These full page blood and thunder articles about a worthless devil of no earthly consequence, save that he has murdered somebody, are calculated to cause some fool to want to go and do likewise.

ANOTHER BOON.

There seems to be no such thing as heading off a real, live, South-western boomer. Oklahoma has been a thorn in the side of the Government for several years, and the only alternative was to open it up to the possession of the roving boomer, which was done on Monday last week. But Oklahoma was not equal to the emergency, and the week was gone before the greedy boomer had turned his eyes upon the Cherokee strip, and essayed to possess that rich fragment of the Indian Territory. So the Cherokee strip will supplant Oklahoma as the thorn in Uncle Sam's side, and the next Congress had as well let down the bars to all the Indian possessions and let in the boomers.

MARINE POSTAL CLERKS.

The German Government has proposed to the United States Government the joint employment of marine postal clerks, to assist and properly arrange all mail matter while crossing the ocean, so that upon the landing of steamers, the mail can be forwarded immediately to its destination, not having to go to the post-office for distribution and remailing. This would lessen the clerical force at the post offices in cities and towns where steamers land, at the same time adding nothing to the running expenses to the post office department, and shorten the time between correspondents of the old and the new world.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

In pursuance to a call of the Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee to select delegates to the Democratic Convention to be held in Louisville, Ky., May 20th, 1889, to nominate a candidate for State Treasurer, the Democrats of Madison county, Ky., assembled in mass convention on Saturday, April 27th, 1889. The Chairman of the County Committee C. D. Chennault was called to order by J. A. Sullivan.

Upon motion the Hon. Jas. B. McCrory was elected Chairman and Geo. M. Wilking Secretary by unanimous vote. The following were named as committee of resolutions: W. T. Tye, J. P. Simmons, J. B. Burman, W. M. Miller and B. M. M. After consultation the committee reported as follows:

Resolved, by the Democrats of Madison county in mass convention assembled.

1st. We approve the call of the State Central Committee for a convention to select delegates to a convention to be held in Louisville, Ky., on May 20th, 1889, to nominate a Democratic candidate for State Treasurer.

2nd. We reaffirm our devotion to Democratic principles as expressed in the platform of the National Democratic Convention held in St. Louis, 1888.

3rd. The following named Democrats are appointed delegates to represent Madison county in the Democratic Convention to be held in Louisville, Ky., May 20th, '89, and they are instructed to cast the vote of Madison county for S. G. Sharp for State Treasurer, viz: J. B. McCrory, A. T. Chennault, Jas. H. Burman, W. T. Tye, John D. Harris, J. A. Sullivan, W. Burman, W. C. French, C. L. Sealey, H. Colyer, J. D. Phil, J. P. Emley, W. S. Hume, Stuart Jones, B. B. Milham and all other good Democrats who may be in attendance.

We endorse the record of James B. McCrory our Congressman, for his able, faithful and distinguished service has been tendered both to the party and nation.

Resolved, That these proceedings be published in THE CLIMAX and Kentucky Register.

On motion the convention then adjourned.

JAS. B. MCCRORY, Chairman.
GEO. M. WILKING, Secretary.

THE BIBLE ON ADVERTISING.

It is perhaps not known that advertising is of ancient origin. In the book of Numbers, 24th chapter and 14th verse, Baalam says to Balak: "And now behold I go unto my people; come therefore and I will advertise thee." Again in Ruth, chapter 4, verse 4, Boaz talked to a relative concerning a sale of land, and signified his intention of advertising.

We don't want any "rooster" to hog this bit of information without credit, for by main strength and awkwardness we dug it out of Holy Writ on yesterday.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

The introduction of foreign animals into the United States has so far been a curious illustration of the "survival of the fittest," which means best equipped by nature to maintain life against all enemies.

The transfer of the English rabbit to Australia threatens the safety of that colony. The increase of new means of living, leading to the introduction of the rabbit into the parent country, is the cause of wonderful expansion of animal life.

The red fox, brought from England to Virginia, has long since reached Kentucky, and destroying the old variety, they are now here in great numbers, killing lambs, pigs and fowls.

So the Norway rat has exterminated the old blue rat, and has become a great nuisance, borrowing under floors and in the walls, and destroying grain, meat and fowls.

The English sparrow was imported to destroy the caterpillars of the cotton, but it is not an insect-eater, but a voracious bird, eating insects like most granivorous species, only sparingly. This sparrow is very prolific like the pigeon, and is now the greatest pest here of all our enemies. It fights in banded numbers and drives off the song and other insect-eating birds. It eats fruit and fruit-buds, and taking possession of houses, defies them beyond all endurance.

All the intelligent observers and lovers of birds in the nation agree that this sparrow should "go."

Let a case-law be made upon them, winter and summer. They may be trapped, and killed with bird-shot. At all times they are fat enough to be eaten, and are one of the greatest luxuries of all flesh. Let the boys and restaurants look out for them.

CATS.

White Hall, Ky., April, 1889.

An Imperative Necessity. What air is to an unhealthy location, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is the Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, Salt Rheum, and all other blood diseases are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

CONCERNING FARMERS.

In New York, 95 horses sold at public sale for $113,000, an average of $1,162. Prolonged drought, cold nights and bugs are injuring the tobacco crop in Southern Kentucky.

A great deficit exists in the wheat crop of Australia, and supplies are to be procured in California.

In Scott county 20,000 pounds of wool sold at 25 cents per pound. In Jessamine county a lot sold at 25 cents per pound.

Woods and Yeager's twelve year old Mammoth Trotter stallion broke his leg at Danville, and had to be killed. He was valued at $1,000.

One buyer in Boyle county has secured more than 30,000 pounds of wool at 25 cents per pound.

At the sales of the Shelby County Horse Association, last week, one hundred and fifteen horses were sold for $23,000, an average of $191.

H. C. Hutcherich has sold to R. B. Hutcherich his newly improved farm, four miles from Paris, for $23,000 cash. There are 255 acres in the tract.

Senator Stanford has shipped about 90 of his young horses to New York, to be sold in May. All the animals are members of Electioneer's family.

Judge B. J. Peters sold his elegant stallion Belmore to J. W. Chennault, Esq., last week for $1,500. He is a very handsome horse and will make a great campaigner.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

The principle winning owners at New Orleans were the Bevericks, stable, with $1,375; T. M. Berry, $710; W. O. Sully, $695; G. M. Co., $600; Combsland Stable, $550, and R. Tucker, $450.

A negro working for John F. Bush pulled a team of horses to dead last Friday. One died in the harness and the other walked only a few yards and dropped dead after he had been turned loose.—Winchester Sun.

At the combination sale of horses broke for riding, driving, etc., and the first day for $5,700, an average of $181.10. On the second day the same range of prices was obtained.

At New York, April 11th, Messrs. E. E. Morgan and C. O. Iselin, sold 22 pairs of harness horses from $800 to $1,600 each, and 20 saddlers and harnesses, at $400 to $1,000 each. The sale amounted to over $30,000.

In looking over the files of 1888 for a political reference, we noticed that over the Lexington track The Irishman beat the Opusium in two mile heat, 3:50 best time. This was on June 19, 1820.—Kentuckian Citizen.

Major B. G. Bruce, who has been for years in naming the Kentucky Deer, by winners, picks Proctor Knott as his selection this year, and if the son of Luke Blanton does not go to the pole, he prefers the chance of Once Again and Heron.

At the horse sale of Kidd, Edmonson & Company, at Lexington, thirty-eight head sold on the first day for $6,205, an average of $163, and on the second day forty-seven head for $10,040, an average of $213. The highest priced animal was Mary Anderson, by Lightning, dam by Moore's Tom Hall, for $2,300.

The people of Nebraska very wisely observe "Arbor Day." As a result over 600,000 young trees are growing on the prairie of that State, and in course of time will make fine timber.

In this matter at least Kentucky would do well to emulate the example of Nebraska.—Georgetown Times.

Last week the aggregate production of the Minneapolis flouring mills was 88,150 barrels, averaging 14,001 barrels daily, against 90,870 barrels for the week before, and 131,400 barrels for the corresponding time in 1888. In sympathy with wheat, the flour market is quiet and unsettled and prices are quoted 25c. or more lower than a week ago.

The slaughter house and pork packing establishment of F. A. Leidy & Co., on Spring Grove avenue, immediately north of the stock yards, Cincinnati, was destroyed by fire Monday night. The loss is complete. How the fire started is a matter of surmise. The establishment was of brick, very large and finely appointed. The loss will be between $25,000 and $50,000, according to present estimates. It is insured in numerous companies. One fireman was slightly hurt.

Well-posted cattlemen allege that there will not be so many nor so good Texas cattle on the market this season as a year ago. And it is claimed, too, that the panic for marketing range cattle all around, regardless of condition, which has been so general for some time, has in a great measure subsided. The closing out of ranches is not so universal as it has been, and ranch transactions are more in the nature of transfers from one party to another than for a year or two.

The question of breeding to old stallions—stallions which have seen a score or more of years—is one that not infrequently perplexes the thoughtful breeder. As a rule, it is safe to breed to any stallion which has demonstrated his ability to get superior stock as long as his vitality is unimpaired. The exceptions would be such stallions as are infertile and transmit physical infirmities or those of temper and habit. The majority of the fastest trotters, and most successful trotting sires, as is shown by the records, were got by stallions in the prime of life. There have been notable exceptions to this, however, both in race horses and trotters. Sir Archy, by far the best of old Dismal's produce, was got when the latter was twenty-seven years old.

The Lexington Races are progressing finely. Fast time, good weather, and large attendance last week.

Advance Bulletin for March, 1889, of the Kentucky State Weather Service in Co-operation with the U. S. Signal Service—Louisville, Ky., April, 1889.—The average temperature of the State for March as determined from the tri-daily observations was 46.5°; from the mean of the average maximum and minimum, 46°. These figures indicate an excess of about 20° above the normal. The average maximum was 57.2°, and the average minimum 36.9°. The highest temperature recorded during the month was 82° at Bowling Green on the 13th, and the lowest 15° at Ashland on the 11th.

The average monthly range of temperature was 31.4°, the greatest range, 99° reported at Bowling Green, and the least 44° at Millersburg. The warmest days of the month were the 17th, 18th and 31st, and the coldest, the 9th and 11th. The average precipitation for the State was 1.32 inches, which is about 2.5° less than the normal. The greatest amount of rain reported was 2.95 inches at Richmond, and the least 43 inches at South Fork.

Snow fell to the depth of one inch in the Eastern and Northern portions of the State. There was less than the usual amount of frost during the month, and but little damage was done to the crops. The number of clear or fair days was largely in excess of the average. The average number of clear days was 11; of fair days 9; of cloudy 12, and of rainy days 6. High winds were general throughout the State on the 18th and 31st, but no serious damage was done to the crops or the stock.

The greatest velocities reported were 30 miles an hour at Lexington, 40 miles at Louisville, and 50 miles at Frankfort on the 31st. The per centage of verification of daily indications sent from Washington and distributed to 23 points in the State was for weather 83, and for temperature 75.

Dr. E. A. Grant, Director, Deafness can be cured. By local application, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking HALL'S CATARRH CURE. Send for circulars, free.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregular action of the bowels, are the distressing symptoms of the more common dyspepsia.

After eating dyspepsia does not get better. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local troubles removes the source of the disease, banishes the distressing effects of the disease, hastens the recovery, and relieves the distressing symptoms.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat did me no good. I was so distressed, as though I had no rest at all. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being sick with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—looked three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food was retained and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."—GEORGE A. PAGE, Waterford, Mass.

A Decided Talent. We have before us a painting by Miss Nellie Glancy, a little fourteen-year-old girl at Winchester. It is a southern forest scene, done in oil, and 16x22 inches in size. It is a work of merit, and certainly a rare production for one so young. We are told that little Miss Glancy is giving painting lessons to persons much her seniors. "Decided talent," we should think.

The Willits Lectures. Tomorrow and Friday nights, at the Christian church, the Rev. Dr. Willits, of Louisville, the versatile and entertaining lecturer, will deliver two lectures—"Sunshine" and "On the Wings." These lectures are given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. of C. U. and for the Christian church. Lectures to begin at eight o'clock. Admission 50 cents. Every-body is expected to be present.

For The Paris Exposition. Prof. O. A. Kennedy, of Central University, has had Mr. Schlegel photograph a number of Indian relics from the museum of the University, including the sculptured head that is so much coveted by the Smithsonian Institute and others who are collecting rare specimens. These photographs are to be sent to Washington where they will be taken in charge by the Government, and forwarded to Paris, France, for the great World's Exposition this summer. The photographs are on exhibition in Mr. A. G. Wood's drug store.

A Ranch. Mr. F. B. Carr, agent K. C., Capt. W. J. Wash, chief of construction K. C., and Mr. Earle, telegraph operator, have rented of Mrs. Ward the Swiss cottage, just completed on Orchard street, and will occupy it as a bachelor's retreat. Capt. Wash has a box cow he has had on his construction train for years. It is probable that Mr. O'Callaghan, bookkeeper for E. T. Powell & Co., of the R. N. I. & B., who has heretofore had his office in the Cuzick building on Main street, next to Baptist church, will occupy one room as an office. The Cuzick building is to be torn down.

The Washington Centennial. Yesterday, the churches of Richmond met at the First Presbyterian church, and celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as President of the United States. The services were opened with reading Scriptures and prayer by Dr. W. E. Hamilton of the Second Presbyterian church, and Prof. B. C. Hagerman of the Christian church. The oration was delivered by Hon. Curtis F. Burnam, W. B. Esq., followed by an address by Rev. Dr. J. A. Henderson, of the Methodist church, closing prayer by Rev. J. F. Williams, of the Baptist church. Benediction by Rev. Dr. Blanton of the Presbyterian church.

Pharmaceutical Association. THE CLIMAX is in receipt of an invitation from Secretary W. B. McRobert, of Stanford, to attend the 12th annual meeting of the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association, which will, this year, be held at Crab Orchard Springs, convening on Wednesday, May 15th. Among several suggestions embraced in the invitation is this important one: Every member should attend, and solicit all druggists who are not members to come and take part in the deliberations. As this will be the last meeting before the assembling of the next Legislature, any legislation for the benefit of the cause of pharmacy, which needs the help of the Association should be formulated and placed in the hands of the legislative committee.

PERSONAL.

Thought it was "Nack the Ripper." The Albany, Georgia, Daily News-Advertiser, of recent date, has the following concerning Capt. Heath, whom everybody here knows: Day before yesterday the little son of Dr. Heath decided to play a practical joke on the negroes on his father's place. His inventive genius soon hit upon the plan of impersonating Jack, the Ripper. He accordingly donned a wig, some rough clothes and dyeing his hands red, went out into the field where the hands were at work. As he walked among the negroes he seemed dripping with gore, he announced himself as Jack, the Ripper. The announcement struck terror to the hearts of the credulous darkies, and they sought safety in flight. They left their ploughs and hoes just where they were standing and could hardly be induced to return. Many of them have not returned yet. The joke had the desired effect, but the darkies didn't enjoy it.

Squire Arrive's Deal.

The Baltimore Manufacturer's Record says: A New York company, with Robert Lecky as general manager, have just completed a contract with D. P. Armer & Co., of Richmond, Ky., to acquire 15,000 acres of oil and gas-bearing territory in Madison and Rockcastle county, to commence work and thoroughly test them for oil, gas and minerals. The work will be under the supervision of Mr. Lecky and Mr. E. V. Wyssbrod, of Findlay, Ohio, both experienced operators in the oil and gas fields of Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. They are very favorably impressed with the indications in the territory, and express no doubt as to the existence of gas, which is a valuable natural product. There are oil-bearing rock and springs throughout the whole territory under investigation, and gas has been found where there has been any boring. A number of wells that were sunk with the purpose of getting oil were abandoned many years ago through the interference of the gas, which was not understood, but the gas has been found in the territory, and now makes the territory very valuable, and will doubtless conduce to the establishment of many industries and to the rapid development of the towns in that part of the State.

Declarator's Contest. The chapel of Central University was full on Friday night to witness the contest between members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes of the Epiphilian and Philanthropic Literary Societies. The judges were Col. J. W. Caperton, Prof. B. C. Hagerman and Prof. Hoggett, of Harrodsburg.

Flowers, fruits and applause were abundant. Mr. Thomas A. Van Lear, of Shreveport, La., presided. The speakers were: W. E. Banister, of Kentucky, subject, "English Literature." Jesse F. Taylor, of Montana, subject, "The Influence of Kosuth." P. B. Newman, of Kentucky, subject, "Spartacus to the Emancipation of Rome." J. J. Schaffhausen, of Kentucky, subject, "Abraham Lincoln."

A. R. Mitchell, of Louisiana, subject, "Spartacus to the Emancipation of Rome." J. B. Oldham, of Kentucky, subject, "Robertson's Last Speech." William Crow, of Kentucky, subject, "Defense of Kentucky." J. T. Jackson, of Tennessee, subject, "Horror of War." A. G. Gregory, of Virginia, subject, "Regulus to the Carthaginians." E. T. Fribble, of Kentucky, subject, "Centennial Oration."

Sons of the Revolution. At Frankfort, Kentucky, on Tuesday, the 1st inst., the "Society of the Sons of the Revolution" was organized. Among the members was Dr. Harlan W. Bright, of Richmond.

The officers elected were Judge William Lindsay, President; Col. E. York Johnson, Vice President; John W. Buchanan, Secretary; Col. Ed Porter Thompson, Registrar; Hon. Grant Green, Treasurer; Col. Thomas M. Green, Historian. Gov. Buckner, Judge Lindsay and Gen. Sam Houston were reported delegates to the general meeting of similar societies to convene in New York, April 30th.

A paragraph in the constitution says: "The purpose of the society is to keep alive among ourselves and our descendants the patriotic spirit of the men who, in military, naval or civil service, by their acts or counsel, aided American independence; to collect and secure for preservation of the manuscript rolls, records and other documents relating to the war of the Revolution, and to promote social intercourse and good feeling among its members now and hereafter."

Relative to membership the constitution says: "Any person shall be eligible to membership in the society who is above the age of twenty-one years, resident in Kentucky, and who is descended from an ancestor who, either as military or naval officer, soldier, sailor, or as an official, recognized subordinate in the service of any one of the thirteen original Colonies or States, or of the National Government representing or composed of those Colonies or States, assisted in establishing American independence during the war of the Revolution; and no person other than such shall be eligible to membership in this society."

At the conference of the National Reform Association, in session at Philadelphia, a resolution was adopted requesting President Harrison to mention Christ in State papers, especially Thanksgiving proclamations.

Rev. Dr. Eaton of the Baptist church, Louisville, preached his usual sermon against the observance of Easter, and on the same day appeared in the principal Baptist organ in New York a strong and lengthy editorial why Easter should be observed.

The Presbytery of Rochester, N. Y., has considered the case of three Deacons who were ordained by the First Presbyterian church a few weeks ago, although at the time they expressed disbelief in the doctrines of foreordination and infant baptism. After full deliberation and discussion the act of ordination was sustained by the Presbytery.

The installation of Rev. Ben Helm as pastor of the Presbyterian church was quite an interesting service participated in by Revs. A. W. Crawford, Wm. C. and Harvey Glass. The latter, who tended college and graduated with Helm, referred to their former class and grew quite pathetic in his charge. Mr. Crow preached at night and both services were largely attended—Stanford Journal.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. W. E. Hamilton has gone to California on a visit.

Miss Nellie Todd, of Lexington, is visiting her cousin, Miss Beale McDowell.

Miss Laura Clay was a delegate to the second annual district convention of the W. C. T. U. at Georgetown.

W. H. McCarty, of the Estill Eagle, was in town one day last week. He has been appointed Police Judge of Irvine.

Mr. Henry Wallace, of Paint Lick, went to Philippi, last week, with a view to locating Pineville. It is "just grobbing cop" too many of our best boys.

Col. John Faulkner has returned to try for Surveyor of the Port; he says that Congressman Hunter is an applicant, for he saw the application on file—Washington special.

Col. Thomas G. Poor, of Frankfort, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, was here yesterday, looking well and happy, and evidently feeling that he is progressing in the right direction.

Caroline and Eleanor, daughters of Mr. Thos. D. Chensault, entertained thirty or forty of their little friends, Thursday afternoon, with a tea-gown party and lunch. The little girls and similar trifles were never so pronounced or half so cute.

THIN COLUMN.

We are informed that Mr. Crate Naup, the cattle and sheep dealer of Kingston, went out bright and early the other morning, cut the timber and split 200 rails in a day.

It looks now as if Miss Peck, of Georgia, who came to Lexington, last week, in a $4,000 in three years on him, is a peck of trouble—a title, no money and not much of a husband.

We learn from exchanges that children were born to the wives of Beauford Anderson and George Washington Morris on the 27th. How the old heroes of great wars do keep moving.

Richmond at last has a cab. It is of a novel design—no novel in fact that it is necessary to paint the wheel on cab so that you know what the blamed thing is. Observe the latter end of it, and you will see in large yellow letters, "C. A. B."

The first time that Eli failed to get there was when he asked Hannah how long she would be drunk, and Hannah told him she hadn't been drinking, wasn't drinking then, and didn't expect to drink—that that wasn't what the matter with Hannah. See First book of Samuel, 1: 14, 15.

A Washington special says H. R. Bannan, of Richmond, Ky., is visiting that city. A week ago another special announced that Mr. A. B. Barnum would soon be appointed Collector of Internal Revenue at Richmond. Only country weeklies make mistakes, you know.

A frogman man tells us that a Waco merchant tried farming, this spring. He planted corn, but the crawfish ate it, he twice repeated the performance, and twice the crawfish repeated. Then the merchant, who had carried it down into the middle of the field, showed it down into a crawfish hole, and remarked, "there, blame you, take the seed to the whole field." But the frogman failed to inform us whether the field was situated at Waco or Frogtown.

Conscientious scruples are governed considerably by the amount of money it takes to overcome them. Nearly the whole town turned out Friday night to hear the state judges and watched much of the patent medicine men, because it was free. A number of the same people were shocked at the bare suggestion of going to see the ministers recently. But then it took 75 cents to get there—Stanford Journal.

The Stanford Inside Journal doesn't mind rapping its neighbors, especially when they need it.

RELIGIOUS.

There are 164 students in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. Twelve young ministers will graduate May 30.

The Rev. Joseph Jordan, who was ordained in Philadelphia, is the first colored man to enter the ministry in the Universalist church. He is to engage in mission work in the South.
